The President of the UN General Assembly (UNGA), Sam Kutesa, Foreign Minister of Uganda, is responsible for the broad decisions that guide Member States toward intergovernmental negotiations. This includes appointing co-facilitators, setting their mandate, and creating opportunities for high-level, thematic discussion. He has appointed the following sets of co-facilitators:

Macharia Kamau, Permanent Representative of Kenya, and David Donoghue, Permanent Representative of Ireland: “lead open, inclusive, and transparent consultations on the Post-2015 development agenda, including the organization and modalities for the intergovernmental negotiations and the remaining issues related to the Summit for the adoption of the Post-2015 development agenda.”

Ib Petersen, Permanent Representative of Denmark, and Robert Aisi, Permanent Representative of Papua New Guinea: continue consultations to finalize the draft resolution on the organizational modalities for the UN summit to adopt the Post-2015 development agenda, which they began during the 68th session of the UNGA.

Amina Mohammed, the UN Special Adviser for Post-2015 Development Planning: responsible for the synthesis report of the Secretary-General on all the inputs that have been produced so far related to the Post-2015 development agenda.

UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon: consistently sought to raise the profile of the Post-2015 development agenda process over the past few years, and the new agenda will be adopted under his watch. But the bulk of the new agenda's implementation period will fall during the next Secretary-General's term, which is expected to run from 2017-21, with the possibility of renewal to 2026.

Martin Sajdik, Permanent Representative of Austria: President of the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). In 2015, ECOSOC will hold the next session of the High-level Political Forum on sustainable development (HLPF 3), which was mandated by the outcome of Rio+20 to replace the Commission on Sustainable Development with a body to follow up on the implementation of sustainable development.
